

SOCIETY

IN ONE and the same breath this week we will speed the departing and greet the incoming President and his family. While the sigh for the one is still on our lips the smile will come for the other, and in the exuberance of joy at the success which places the new President in the White House, there will not be lost sight of the improvements and the progressiveness which the retiring President and his wife have been the inspiration of.

The signs, be it known, which are breathed at the departure of President Roosevelt, will all be on the part of the friends and the public, for there will be none in that family.

No woman ever retired from the glare of the limelight with more heartfelt thankfulness than does Mrs. Roosevelt. It was ever her choice to remain in the quiet of her own home rather than in the full sight of the public, a fickle public at best, and she goes with never a regret for what she leaves behind her, as the wife of the President.

It is a curious coincidence that they leave the White House under the shadow of mourning as they entered it. Out of respect to the President's dead nephew they canceled their engagements for the past week, but will keep their official appointments, and will dine with two members of the Cabinet circle, and will be hosts at a dinner to the President-elect and his wife on the eve of the inaugural ceremonies.

The inaugural guests are already crowding the city, and there's scarcely a household but what has its full quota, or will have within a day or two. The President-elect and Mrs. Taft arrived in Washington yesterday and are the guests of Miss Mabel Boardman, in the Boardman home, in P street, just off Dupont Circle. They will be entertained at luncheon to-morrow by Senator and Mrs. Hale, and at dinner to-morrow night by their hosts. They will go to the White House on Wednesday to be the guests of the retiring President and Mrs. Roosevelt, and will be entertained at dinner for them on Wednesday night, thus establishing a precedent which greatly simplifies matters for the incoming President and makes it far more comfortable for him and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, brother and sister-in-law of the President-elect, will be established in the Archibald Hopkins house, in Dupont circle, within a few days, and will have with them Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Taft and their family. Mrs. Henry W. Taft and Miss Louise Taft have just returned from Europe, where they have spent the winter.

Miss Nellie Grant and her father, Mr. Jesse Grant, have arrived and are the guests of the former's aunt, Mrs. Emma Dent Casey, for the inauguration, creating echoes of the administration when Miss Grant's relative, for whom she was named, was in the White House and later the White House bride.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Newberry will have quite a party with them for the week, including the Secretary's mother, Mrs. John S. Newberry, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. John S. Newberry, Jr., of Detroit; Mr. A. Victor Barnes, of New York, brother of Mrs. Newberry. Mrs. and Miss Newberry will sail for Europe about the end of March to spend the spring season.

The Secretary of Commerce and Labor and Mrs. Strauss will have as their guests their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hochstadter, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Lewisohn, of New York; Miss Stiner, of New York; and Mr. Roger Strauss, their son, who is at school in New Jersey.

Mrs. Garfield, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, will have as her guests for the week Mr. and Mrs. Horace Taft, of Watertown, Conn.

Miss Cannon, daughter of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, will have as her guests Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Nugent, of St. Louis, and their daughter, Miss Nugent, who are not strangers in Washington, and who will be constantly entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt, who are at Palm Beach, will return here next week for the festivities.

Mrs. Charles E. Hughes, wife of the governor of New York; Mr. Timothy L. Woodruff, wife of a former governor of New York; Miss Dorothy Whitney, daughter of the former Secretary of the Navy; Mrs. Samuel Carr, Mrs. H. W. Coe, Mrs. Donald McLean, Mrs. Bowron, Mrs. E. B. Frost, Mrs. L. Y. Spear, Mrs. E. S. Holmes, Mrs. Charles B. Halsey, Mrs. Robert P. Porter, Mrs. George W. Wickersham, wife of the future Attorney General, and Mrs. W. R. Wilcox, all of New York, and Mrs. Percy T. Morgan, of California, will be here next week for at least a few days to participate in the ceremonies.

Mrs. Seth Bullock, of Deadwood, S. Dak., will also come this week to see the inaugural festivities of the successor to her husband's friend.

Miss Martha Bacon, daughter of the Secretary of State, will entertain during the week Miss Cynthia Sherwood.

The Vice President-elect and Mrs. Sherman will have a large family party with them, including Mrs. Sherman's mother, Mrs. Babcock, if she recovers sufficiently to continue her journey to Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Sherman and Miss Sherman, Miss Dorothy Sherman, Mrs. Richard W. Sherman, Miss Elizabeth Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. De Long, Mrs. L. R. Moore, Mrs. William B. Jackson, Miss Angela Roberts, Miss Katherine Roberts, Miss Baker, the Misses Miller, Mr. Richard Sherman, Mr. Robert Sherman, Capt. Sherrill Babcock, and Mr. Cooper.

Mrs. Black, widow of Hon. Jeremiah Black, of Pennsylvania, will be the guest of her niece, Mrs. Isham Hornsby, for the inaugural week.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Bacon will entertain the President and Mrs. Roosevelt at dinner to-morrow evening in their Sixteenth street house. This is the first and last dinner they will give in honor of the Chief Executive and his wife as Cabinet hosts.

On Tuesday evening the Secretary of Commerce and Labor and Mrs. Strauss will entertain the President and Mrs. Roosevelt at dinner, which will be the last of what were formerly known as the "Cabinet dinners," and on Wednesday the President and Mrs. Roosevelt will entertain their successors, President-elect and Mrs. W. H. Taft, at dinner in the White House.

Mrs. Richard Ely was hostess at a tea yesterday afternoon in honor of Lady Clifford, of England, who is spending a few days here, en route to Palm Beach, and who is being constantly entertained. Lady Clifford is a friend of Mrs. Ely's daughter, Mrs. Gibbons, wife of Commander Gibbons, naval attaché of the United States Embassy at London, whose marriage took place here about three years ago.

Mrs. Tom Williams entertained at a pretty tea yesterday afternoon.

The Indiana members of the senior class of Fairmont Seminary entertained at a handsome George Washington tea on Monday afternoon in the senior house, Calumet place. Their guests of honor were Chief Justice Stanton J. Peelle, of the United States Court of Claims, and Mr. and Mrs. Scott C. Bone. The decorations and buffet luncheon were all in accordance with the day.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Ramsay and the Calumet Club entertained at a tea, with Representative Adam Bede as their guest of honor. He made one of his characteristic brilliant speeches to the more than a hundred girls who gathered in the famous memorial hall of the senior house.

Mrs. William E. Andrews and Miss McCoy entertained at their home, 1223 Fairmont street, last evening in honor of Miss Helen Boyd, daughter of Congressman Boyd, of Neigh, Neb. The parlors were in green and white, roses and ferns being used in profusion. A string orchestra played in a cozy corner throughout the evening. The dining-room was decorated with emerald ferns and red roses. Mrs.

Andrews, always a charming hostess, made her more than 200 guests feel her sincere hospitality, and wore a gown of green satin and duchess lace. Miss Boyd, in rich mesquite satin with lace; Miss McGraw, white chiffon over taffeta; Mrs. Tobey, a house guest, champagne satin, and Miss McCoy, satin liberty.

The Misses Carr entertained the M. O. C. Club at their home, 1337 Kearney street, Brookland, D. C., on Washington's Birthday. Music was rendered by Miss Marie Hall, Miss Josephine O'Meara, and Mr. William Krug, after which dancing and games were indulged in until a late hour, when all repaired to the dining-room, where an oyster supper was served. The room was lastingly decorated in the national colors and with carnations and palms. Among those present were Misses Margaret Carr, Catherine Carr, Marie Hall, Elizabeth Healy, Billie O'Meara, Anna McGraw, Geneva Kierman, Louise O'Meara, Viola Johnston, Irene Kierman, Mary Orr, and Josephine O'Meara, and Messrs. Clarence Poston, Edward Lashan, John Dombhart, John Lehman, Robert Brown, William Krug, William Carr, John Mackintosh, Powderly Carr, Charles Holloman, Harry Heffernan, George McCurdy, Charles Hauser, Eugene Hoover, and Bernard Costello.

The Columbia Heights Art Club met Thursday last with Mrs. Almona Hart, 115 Euclid street northwest. Mrs. Croissant was chairman for the day.

A historical paper, "Famous Greek women," was read by Mrs. W. H. Sauber, Sappho, Aspasia, and Hypatia were introduced in turn, and the part each played in Grecian history was shown. The paper also discussed the influence upon the character of Greek women of different localities, with particular reference to Sparta. Mrs. John A. Chamberlain gave the art paper, "Early Christian art."

Mrs. Engle read an extract from Canon Kingsley's "Hypatia," of London, describing the appearance and the room in which she studied. Others gave selections from the classics and from standard art authorities.

During the social hour Mrs. Gresham recited, and Mrs. Moulton, daughter of the hostess, sang three numbers. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Sauber.

One of the most delightful dances of the season was given by the Westminster Club at Mrs. Dyer's last evening. Fully fifty couples were represented in the supper march, which was executed in excellent manner. Delicious refreshments were served at the intermission.

The Catholic Art and Literature Conversation Class met in the home of Mrs. M. L. Coode, 706 Eleventh street northwest, on Thursday afternoon last, and by means of penny prints took a trip through the "National Art Gallery" of London, paying special attention to Raphael's "Ansdad Madonna," Murillo's "Holy Family," "Da Vinci's 'Virgin of the Rocks,'" and the famous Altar Piece, "The Virgin and Child with St. John the Baptist," which Ruskin considered to be the finest in existence, and concerning which he said "raises our national gallery from a second-rate to a first-rate collection."

Mrs. Robert Owen, wife of Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, entertained at a handsome reception in the ballroom at the Shoreham on Friday afternoon, assisted by her young daughter, Miss Dorothy Owen. Mrs. Owen, who is one of the most beautiful women in official circles here, wore a diaphanous gown of soft pink satin and point lace. Miss Owen wore pink velvet, which harmonized delightfully with her mother's gown. Others assisting Mrs. Owen were Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Boone, Mrs. Payter, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Bankhead, and Mrs. Gamble, wives of Senators; Mrs. Coudrey, Mrs. Wynne, Mrs. McGuire, Mrs. Langley, Mrs. Guder, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Almsworth, Mrs. Morris Evans, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Barnhardt, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Garlington, and Mrs. H.
